

EDDY MERCKX

1 CORSA EXTRA

2 CORSA

The frame lives up to the name... ... and that's not an easy task.

Eddy Merckx was a legend on the bicycle. The records he achieved were certainly no easy tasks, although at times he made it look as if they were. His eye for detail and demanding attitude brought him many victories. When it came to making a bicycle line he didn't take the easy way either. Instead of lending his name to other production bikes, Eddy set up his own state of the art factory in Meise, Belgium. This would allow him complete control of all phases of production, and a final product he could be proud of. Today, the meticulous master oversees the production of each frame as if it were his own, making sure they are all deserving of the Eddy Merckx logo. He has called upon his years of experience on the road to design bicycles that meet the demands of today's riders. In 1987, the European Professional Teams selected his bikes. Eddy Merckx bicycles have also been chosen by 6 American Teams as well as some of the top triathletes in the world. It is from this rich heritage that the Eddy Merckx bicycles and frames are born.

3 The CRITERIUM is Eddy Merckx's circuit racing bike. It's designed for american-style closed course racing. With a higher bottom bracket, shorter top tube and shorter wheel base, the Criterium meets the demands of the riders who prefer a "quicker" bike, without sacrificing riding comfort.

This frame is hand built with Columbus SLX tubing using all investment cast lugs, investment fork crown and bottom bracket shell. It's spec'out with Campagnolo's C-Record group including the new Delta brakes.

4 The STRADA is the second new addition to the Eddy Merckx line. This sport bike is constructed with Columbus Cromor tubing and has the same geometry as the top of the line Corsa Extra. The componentry is the new revamped Victory S3 from Campagnolo. The result is a bicycle that is worthy of the Eddy Merckx mark.

Eddy Merckx offer a host of special application frames, including track and road frames, track and road chrono frames with 24 or 26 inches front wheel.

1 The CORSA EXTRA is the flagship of the Eddy Merckx line, a thoroughbred European racer. It is constructed with Columbus SLX tubing and hand-brazed, using all investment cast conjunctions, investment cast fork crown and bottom bracket shell. It is then outfitted with Campagnolo's C-Record group including the Cobalto brakes. The geometry of the Corsa Extra makes it the ultimate road racing machine, a superb blend of comfort and performance. It is the perfect bike for racers and those who just enjoy the exhilarating rise of a true racing bike.

2 The CORSA, one of the two additions to the Eddy Merckx line, is a perfect marriage of traditional classic design and new technology. The frame features such classic touches as the original Eddy Merckx investment cast fork crown and bottom bracket shell, as well as the Columbus SL tubing. The components, on the other hand, are the very latest. Eddy has chosen here the new Campagnolo Chorus group, giving it up to the minute performance with a traditional touch of class.

All Eddy Merckx bicycles are available as frame-sets.

Chroming and all necessary braze-ons are available: two water bottle bosses, rear brake cable guides, shifter bosses, front derailleur hanger and chain hanger.
