

Haro
Bikes

2000

For over twenty years Haro has pushed the envelope in developing high performance cycling products. As one of the original "rider owned" companies, Haro has grown significantly without compromising the vision, creativity, and attention to detail of it's founder, Bob Haro. With the introduction of the year 2000 product line, you can see that that same passion and commitment to the sport are continuing into the new millennium.

Although our product line is bigger than ever, our focus remains small. You won't find electric bikes, road bikes, recumbants or fitness equipment in our line. What you will find are the best freestyle, BMX, dirt jumping and mountain bikes we can produce. Nothing more. Nothing less. Bikes that have all evolved from some very deep roots in the sport of BMX.

Regardless of price, every product we produce has been designed and developed from a rider's perspective. And that includes some brutally honest input from our pros. If some things not right, they let us know. Then we fix it. It's a process we take seriously. And one that is proven year in and year out by the success of our world class athletes, and the quality of the Haro products they endorse.

We're proud of our part in writing BMX and freestyle history, but we're definitely not finished. The products featured in this catalog demonstrate what we've learned from experience and competition as well as our commitment to the future.

WERKS SERIES

In conjunction with a renewed focus on World Cup and NORBA racing Haro will soon introduce a new line of high end bikes. The new bikes, designated as the Werks Series, will be designed with serious off-road riding and racing as their sole purpose.

Developed with feedback and input from pro riders Mike King, Seamus McGrath and Paul Rowney, the Werks Series will include two rigid frame cross country bikes, two dual slalom bikes and and two full suspension frames, one for downhill and one for cross country use. What will distinguish the Werks Series is the attention to detail and a lack of compromise when it comes to component selection.

A separate Werks catalog will be released in the fall of 1999.

Haro invented freestyle BMX and Dave Mirra and Ryan Nyquist have continued a tradition of winning, in a big way. By dominating vert and street competitions including the X Games for the past two years, Haro's continuing leadership position in freestyle is unquestioned. Add to that flatland specialist Chad DeGroot and a supporting cast of world class team riders from countries all over the world and you begin to understand how serious we are. We've always made the best freestyle bikes, now check out the best freestyle bikes we've ever made.

MIRRA PRO

Frame colors: Pearl White & Candy Red

Just like Dave's bike. It's not made of gold, but it's won more gold medals than any other bike. You can't buy a better bike than this.

- Proven frame design with more X-Games gold medals than anyone
- New burlier frame with chainstay monostay
- 10mm thick made in USA MegaNuke ring
- Haro Heffer 3 rims with Haro MegaHubs
- Dia-Compe Tank headset
- Mirra Pro bars and seat

Frame colors: Gloss Black & Electric Green

BLAMMO

For a lot less than a Mirra Pro, you can get a bike that's won three X Games gold medals. There's obviously no limit to what you can do on this bike.

- Same frame as the Mirra Pro, but more affordable
- Haro Heffer 3 rims with Haro MegaHubs
- Fusion 3-piece cromoly crank w/pinch bolt
- Dia-Compe 996 brakes front and rear
- Haro Nuke Ring
- Haro Kneesaver II handlebar

MASTER

Frame colors: Loogie & Pearl White

The Master. An original. The first bike to define "state of the art" in freestyle bikes. Still the ultimate flatland ride.

- Geometry refreshed by Chad Degroot
- Haro freecoaster with Haro Heffer 3 rims
 - 37t Haro Nuke ring made in USA
- Fusion 3-piece cromoly 160mm crankset
 - Haro Big Block pedals
- Ground Round alloy axle extenders

Frame colors: Gloss Black & Ano Blue

MIRRA FLAIR

New for the year 2000. A solid performer created from the gene pool that dominates freestyle competition.

- Same frame as the Mirra Pro, but even more affordable
- Haro Heffer chrome plated rims
- Haro FatHubs w/1/2" cromoly axles
- New forged cromoly Haro 3-piece crankset
- Haro Multisurface 3 tires with 100 psi rating
- Dia-Compe 996 brakes front and rear
- SST Dryg rotor

Mike King, Jamie Staff and a talented group of amateur racers have contributed to developments like our revolutionary Monocoque frame and more recently, the split extrusion SR-71. These developments have advanced both the technology and performance of BMX racing. And what we've learned from that technology and performance is used in producing the new products you'll see featured here like the T-Bone and SR Series of racing bikes.

GROUP 1 SR3.0

Frame colors: Blue/BB & White/Blue

The shape of things to come. The same awesome looks of our exotic SR-71 split extrusion frame. Equipped to cross the line - first.

Haro's Comments: The year was 1988, Mike King became the first BMX racer ever to win back to back Amateur/Pro titles in the ABA. In his rookie Pro season, Mike won the title that made him a living legend. He did it on a Haro. Then in 1995, again in a rookie Pro season, on a Mountain Bike this time, Mike pulled off the unthinkable...A World Championship Downhill Title. Now, back on Haro, and feeling at home again, Mike has made it a goal to prove that he has what it takes to regain a National title. What does Haro think? Just wait...

Name: Jamie Staff
Nickname: "Thunder Thighs"
Hometown: Ashford, England
Resides: Vista, Ca.
Birth-date: 4-30-73
Competing Class: AA Pro
Bike: HARO "Y2K" SR-71 Extruded Aluminum frame
Best Results: 1995 European Champion
 1996 UCI World Cup Champion
 1996 UCI World Champion
 1997 Australian World Cup Champion
 1997 ABA Fallnational Winner
Best Track: ABA Phoenix, AZ.
Other Interests: Weight Training, Mountain Biking, Golf.

Haro's Comments: In the 1997 and 1998 seasons, Jamie went through 4 major injuries. Now that all the broken bones have healed, Jamie's comeback plan has put him at the top of the Pro class once again. With consistent places and an AA Pro win thus far in the 1999 season, Jamie is looking for something a little bigger than what he has already accomplished in his career...an American National Title... We think he's on his way to fulfilling his dream.

Conventional wisdom is for wimps. Back in 1987 we produced the first V-Bar mountain bike frame followed shortly thereafter by elevated chainstay bikes. Despite the criticism we received for those deviant designs, tons of bikes from those same critics now feature some form of bent or V-Bar style top tube. Elevated chainstays have survived too, it's just that they now pivot and are called swingarms. And to the chagrin of traditional thinkers, Canadian National team member Seamus McGrath and Australian National Champion Paul Rowney and former World Champion downhiller Mike King are proving the performance capabilities of these designs on the World Cup and NORBA circuits.

EXTREME EX2

Frame colors: Tangerine/Black & Ruby Red/BB

No, it's not an illusion, but it is magic. The new Extreme EX2 features dual discs, Rock Shox suspension and a Shimano drivetrain for a price you really won't believe.

LOW FORWARD PIVOT & V-BAR

KEEP IT SIMPLE

There are many schools of thought when it comes to full suspension design. There's active, non-active, Horst links, sweet spots, URTs, struts, beams and who knows what else out there competing for a share of the market. Many require an engineering degree to understand and some require a Swiss bank account to afford.

Unlike multiple pivot designs, Haro's single, low-forward pivot is durable, easy to service and inexpensive to replace. The pivot location forward of the bottom bracket and in line with the large chainring provides an optimum balance between ascending performance and descending performance.

By positioning the pivot in line with the large chainring there is a neutral affect on the suspension when your hammering in the big ring. Biopacing or inch worming is nearly eliminated providing maximum power transfer at high speeds and on flat sections. The benefit - optimum cross country performance from a full suspension design.

On steep, rough climbs in the small chainring the rear wheel is actually pulled down and into the ground with the pedal stroke to provide superior climbing traction. The rear swingarm actually digs in and keeps the tire firmly planted as torque is applied. On descents, the suspension works equally well whether you're in or out of the saddle.

Take a test ride, we think you'll agree that the Extreme's low-forward pivot incorporates an optimum blend of simplicity, all around performance and affordability.

V-BAR STORY

We've been touting our trademark V-Bar top tube design for over ten years. We developed the V-Bar to stand out in market-place filled with look-a-like diamond frame bikes. At first, we encountered a lot of resistance. People said it would break or that it looked weird. Well, it doesn't break and now a days it doesn't look so different. In fact, if you look closely at today's full suspension and high end bikes you'll see more V-type or bent top tubes than straight ones. Of course we're flattered by the imitation but we're also a little concerned that it's getting harder to spot a Haro than it used to be.

Aside from the visual aspects of the V-Bar design there are several tangible benefits.

The V-Bar design provides superior standover height when compared to conventional diamond frames and it facilitates determining which frame size fits you the best. Conventional bikes are sized primarily based on vertical top tube clearance. With the V-Bar's lower standover height, you can focus on top tube length and choosing the size that best suits your style of riding rather than just clearing the top tube by an inch or two.

The V-Bar. It's not complicated and it's not a gimmick. It's a design that Haro pioneered and one we're committed to for the long run.
